A seasonal decline of 1,440 agricultural workers accounted for the sharp decrease. The manufacturing division reached a total of 2,900, which was 20 more than in September and 100 above the estimate for a year ago. During the three-month period 50 additional workers were employed in food processing and ten more in textile and apparel. Lumber and wood products, however, showed a decrease of 40, due primarily to weather conditions. Nonmanufacturing employment total 2,780, up 20 from September and 100 above the year-ago estimate. Wholesale and retail trade increased 30 over the three-month period and transportation, communication and public utilities showed a gain of 10. OUR SOUTHERN STATES 100 YEARS AGO

DAVIS UPHOLDS LEE

One hundred years ago this week, Federal pressure was building up at Vicksburg. It was being considered to divide Lee's army in order to send re-enforcements to Vicksburg. Secretary of War James Seddon urged that part of Lee's army could be sent to Vicksburg and the rest could still hold the enemy in check in Fredericksburg.

With this argument Lee disagreed and said that it would be foolish to weaken his army in the face of the Federal build-up under "Fighting Joe" Hooker in Virginia. Hooker was busy drilling his troops, providing better army camps, improving the cavalry, and restoring confidence in general. With Hooker's superior numbers, Lee felt that he would soon attack. Lee explained the need for Confederate strength around Richmond, where he thought the war would be finally decided, to President Davis. He added that the Army of Tennessee was near Vicksburg, and inactively encamped at Tullahoma, Tennessee, and asked, "Why not send a division to Vicksburg from that army?"

Davis sided with Lee and ordered General John C. Breckinridge's division near Tullahoma, Tennessee to proceed to the aid of General John Pemberton on the Mississippi. Actually the Confederacy was experiencing the frustration of trying to hold a fighting front of nearly one thousand miles against a greatly superior enemy. Sacrifice it must, and Davis and Lee made the decision to risk losing the west rather than the eastern part of the Confederacy.

RAMBLING ROSES AND FLYING BRICKS

BY EARL TUCKER
THOMASVILLE, ALABAMA

"A well known writer suggests that editors and journalists devote more space to stories concerning the Bible." -- News item. I am certainly glad to do my part in carrying out this worthwhile suggestion and I shall now take up the story of how Daniel got thrown in the lion's den and came out without a toothmark showing on him.

To start with, Daniel made a name for himself by figuring out dreams for a number of the kings of that day, mainly Nebuchadnezzar and Belshazzar, although he did some dream work for a number of lesser kings and while he wasn't figuring out dreams for the kings he was probably appearing before various civic clubs.

There was a lot more dreaming going on, though, among the kings than there was among members of the civic clubs, because the kings drank too much, smoked too much and ate too much. Civic club members do not eat too much at their meetings and they do not dream very often. Green peas, a baked potato, weak lamb and stuff like that which was what the kings of long ago ate, along with a barrel or two of rice wine.

Daniel, by the way, was known as a major prophet. They were also a number of minor prophets. The difference was that the major prophets were always right in their prophesying, while the minor prophets missed a lot of sort of like our weathermen do today.

Daniel was given another name, that of Belshazzar, which comes from the Latin words meaning "Darius." He stood in extra good with a king named Darius, but this Darius was a sort of pussy-footing politician and some of his friends got him to sign a bill that said a person couldn't pray to anybody except the King and it became one of the laws of the Medes and Persians, which could not be changed. Well, these same people who got the law passed caught Daniel praying three times a day and they proved it on him in court and Darius was forced to carry out the law, which called for Daniel to be thrown in a den full of lions. Actually, Darius kind of overdid the thing and it seems to me like he made it mighty hard on Daniel. What he did was to place a huge rock in front of the entrance to the den and he sealed it with his signet, which was what they called Scotch tape back in those days.

You recall the story of how Daniel spent the night in the den and how the angels sealed the mouths of the lions and when Darius, after a sleepless night, rushed out to the den and found Daniel unharmed. The reason Darius didn't sleep was because he was afraid he would dream and if the lions ate Daniel he could find out what his dreams were about.

Darius was very happy and he thought the war would be finally decided, to President Davis. He added that the Army of Tennessee was near Vicksburg, and inactively encamped at Tullahoma, Tennessee, and asked, "Why not send a division to Vicksburg from that army?"

Davis sided with Lee and ordered General John C. Breckinridge's division near Tullahoma, Tennessee to proceed to the aid of General John Pemberton on the Mississippi. BIRMINGHAM CAMELLIA SHOW

Each year during the first part of February Alabama's "Magic City," beautiful Birmingham, is the site of the largest and most well-planned Camellia Show in the South. This year's Camellia Show will be held in the Municipal Auditorium on February 9-10 and most certainly will contain the grandest array of Camellia blooms anywhere around.

No admission fee is charged, no goods are sold, and no advertising is done. The event is sponsored by the Birmingham Chamber of Commerce as a civic affair and is presented by the Bessemer Men's Camellia Club, in cooperation with the American Camellia Society.

The Show this February will have Alabama's first family, Governor and Mrs. Wallace, in attendance at the ribbon cutting ceremony, which will take place on Saturday, February 9, at 2 p.m.

Another addition to this growing annual event is the naming of a Camellia Queen to reign over the show. The winner will be selected from contestants sponsored by members of the Federated Garden Clubs of the Third Region and will hold the title of Camellia Queen for the coming year, attending several events along with the Birmingham Camellia Show.

This year's program should prove interesting to all who attend and the crowd, no doubt, will be larger than last year's estimated 40,000 persons. Camellia lovers from all over Alabama, and 36 other states, were drawn to the "Iron City" for this event.

EVERY PRESCRIPTION TELLS A STORY

It begins with a patient who needs help to get well or stay healthy. It comes from a physician who dedicated years of study to learn the knowledge needed to be able to write one.

Each prescription is dispensed by a pharmacist who had to study and pass a state examination to prove his knowledge. And, most prescription stories have a happy ending. The patient gets well and lives happily thereafter.

TRAVELING ALABAMA

BY JIM HART
ASST. DIRECTOR
ALABAMA PETROLEUM COUNCIL

BIRMINGHAM CAMELLIA SHOW

Each year during the first part of February Alabama's "Magic City," beautiful Birmingham, is the site of the largest and most well-planned Camellia Show in the South. This year's Camellia Show will be held in the Municipal Auditorium on February 9-10 and most certainly will contain the grandest array of Camellia blooms anywhere around.

No admission fee is charged, no goods are sold, and no advertising is done. The event is sponsored by the Birmingham Chamber of Commerce as a civic affair and is presented by the Bessemer Men's Camellia Club, in cooperation with the American Camellia Society.

The Show this February will have Alabama's first family, Governor and Mrs. Wallace, in attendance at the ribbon cutting ceremony, which will take place on Saturday, February 9, at 2 p.m.

Another addition to this growing annual event is the naming of a Camellia Queen to reign over the show. The winner will be selected from contestants sponsored by members of the Federated Garden Clubs of the Third Region and will hold the title of Camellia Queen for the coming year, attending several events along with the Birmingham Camellia Show.

This year's program should prove interesting to all who attend and the crowd, no doubt, will be larger than last year's estimated 40,000 persons. Camellia lovers from all over Alabama, and 36 other states, were drawn to the "Iron City" for this event.

Have you ever had the wax paper slip while you were rolling out a pie crust? Solve the problem by wetting the surface of the table first.

Drain bacon or french fried potatoes on paper towels over a sheet of wax paper. The paper towels will absorb the grease and the wax paper will stop the excess fat from soaking through to the table.

Coffee Commissioners Build Road To Elba's New Hill-Burton Hospital

Flournoy Whitman, who is a Coffee County road commissioner, has been instrumental in getting a road through from the Taylor Mill Road to the new 28-bed Elba Hospital. This road will enable residents of the northwest corner of the county to reach the hospital by this route, saving a number of miles that would have been required to travel the roads prior to the building of this new road. Not only will this be a great advantage to those who live in the area, but it will also be a great advantage to the hospital, as it will be able to receive patients from a larger area.

Pictured is a limited scene of the road as it leads west by the hospital. Before this road was built the street stopped at a dead-end there where the hospital is now being built at a cost above $500,000.

This is only one of the improvements the road commissioners are making in Coffee County.

JAMES R. DeVANE

My neighbor told me her dentist says that teeth can last a lifetime. Is this possible?

Yes, it is possible. Teeth are designed to last a lifetime. You and your children can keep your own teeth if you conscientiously follow the rules of preventive dentistry.

The first thing to be recognized is that teeth require daily care if they are to remain in good health. This means eating a balanced diet low in sweets and always brushing your teeth immediately after eating. In addition, it is important that you visit your dentist regularly so that any dental problems that do develop can be taken care of promptly.

Children who, from birth, drink water containing 1 part per million fluoride have up to 60 per cent less decay than might otherwise develop. Where the water is not fluoridated, topical applications of fluoride are of value in helping to prevent decay.

I am now 30 years old and have never had any wisdom teeth. Is this unusual?

No, it is not too unusual. Twenty-five per cent of the people never get third molars. Incidentally, whether or not you have wisdom teeth has nothing to do with how wise you are. The custom of calling the third molars wisdom teeth apparently arose just because the teeth appear late, usually from the 17th to the 22nd year.

What is the relationship between nutrition and dental health?

In general, if you eat the kind of diet recommended for general health, you'll be getting the essentials for dental health.

During the years the teeth are being formed before birth to the age of 5 years, an adequate supply of calcium and phosphorus is needed for hardening of the tooth structure. Once the teeth are fully formed and calcified, the enamel does not need any more calcium and cannot absorb any. The gums and the bones of the jaws must have the same nourishment throughout life as the other tissues of the body.

While a good diet does play a part in the development of sound, healthy teeth, only fluoridated water can help develop decay-resistant teeth.

As far as preventing tooth decay is concerned, what you do eat is perhaps less important in preventing tooth decay than what you don't eat is sweets.

What causes tooth decay?

Various studies that have been made indicate that bacteria always present in the mouth act on fermentable carbohydrates, especially sugar, to form acids. The acids attack the enamel of the teeth. Eventually these acid attacks result in decay.

The teeth of those who brush immediately after eating does help to remove some of the sugar before it is converted to acid. When brushing is not possible, the mouth should be rinsed with clear water.

How should I brush my teeth?

Your dentist can tell you the best method of toothbrushing. Here are three good general rules:

1. Brush immediately after eating.

2. Brush each area at least ten times - the surfaces next to the cheeks and next to the tongue and the upper and lower chewing surfaces.

3. Brush the upper teeth down toward the biting edge and the lower teeth up toward the biting edge.

Does a decayed tooth ever heal itself?

No, it does not. Once decay has begun in a tooth, the only way the progress of this disease can be stopped is for a dentist to remove the decayed part and place a restoration in the tooth. If the tooth is not restored, the decay process continues until, eventually, the tooth must be removed.

Does fluoridated water really reduce tooth decay?

Fluoridated water is the most effective public health measure in reducing dental decay, as proven in more than 30 years research. If your child drinks fluoridated water, the chances are as much as 60 per cent less tooth decay than he would have if he drank fluoridated water.

What causes periodontal disease?

Among the local factors causing periodontal disease is calculus, or tartar, a hard, crust-like material that is deposited on the surface of the teeth where the gums and the crowns meet, irritating the gums.

Worn our fillings and crowns, ill-fitting partial dentures, sharp edges of badly decayed teeth and food particles retained in a cavity also irritate the gums.

The loss of a tooth, if it is not replaced with an artificial tooth by a dentist, may cause the adjacent teeth to shift into the vacant space. The shifting leads not only to wedging of food into the spaces between the teeth but also to improper meshing of the teeth upon chewing. The shock and uneven pressures of these poor tooth contacts damage the periodontal tissues. Teeth that do not come together properly on closing the jaws, regardless of the cause, can be a factor in producing periodontal disease.

If a patient has regular dental checkups, his dentist will discover and promptly eliminate any or these possible causes of irritation.

Can periodontal disease be cured?

Yes, in many cases it can be cured, especially if the disease is discovered in its early stages. Calculus and any other causes of irritation within the mouth are removed. If necessary, diseased gum tissue is removed surgically. In some cases, splints and other appliances are constructed to maintain stability of loose teeth until bone and gums are regenerated.

Although treatment by the dentist is important, the complete cooperation of the patient in home care is important if the treatment is to be successful.

Why does my dentist insist on making x-rays of my teeth every two years?

X-ray pictures reveal to the dentist many defects of the teeth and surrounding tissues - such as small cavities, decay developing under fillings and bone loss in periodontal disease - which he cannot see when making a visual examination. The dentist needs to have the information about the hidden parts of the teeth and the soft tissues and bones of the mouth in order to detect and treat many oral conditions. Only x-rays can reveal this information.

Also dental x-ray examinations at regular intervals provide the dentist with a history of a patient's mouth, enabling him to watch for changes in teeth, bones or soft tissues that may be early indications of disease or other difficulty. Then the necessary treatment can be given at once, before the condition becomes serious.

Your own dentist is the best judge of how often x-rays should be taken of your teeth, since this depends on the conditions in your mouth.

What is meant by erosion of the teeth?

Erosion is a decalcification (dissolving) of the enamel of the teeth. It occurs most frequently at the gum line.

There is considerable evidence that suggests erosion is a result of the action of acids. Drinking lemon juice or other highly acid beverages frequently can result in erosion. Once the acid etches the tooth surface, toothbrushing easily removes the softened tissue.

As preventive measures dentists usually recommend limiting the amount of strong acid food and beverages consumed, proper toothbrushing and regular dental checkups. In some cases, it may be necessary for the dentist to restore the eroded area with a filling or a crown.

Baptist Ladies To Donate Bibles To Hospital

The Gussie Hutchison BWC of the First Baptist Church met Monday night, Jan. 21, in the home of Mrs. Mary Alice Mayes.

Mrs. Sara Rainier, circle chairman, presided over a business session during which the members voted to assist in the donation of Bibles for Elba's new hospital and to help out in the church nursery program.

A program from "Royal Service" on the subject of Christian witnessing was presented by Mrs. Lucile Bowdoin, Miss Eleanor Lee, Mrs. Mary Alice Mayes, and Mrs. Carolyn Boswell.

During the social hour the eight members present enjoyed a delightful dessert course.

Mr. and Mrs. Fox Brunson were guests of Mrs. Frances Branson, Mrs. Elizabeth Baggett, in Rutledge Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. John Burton Harper spent Saturday in Montgomery.

Mr. and Mrs. Edward Whitley and children, of Mobile, visited his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Whitley, last week.

Mr. and Mrs. Clayton Tindol and Mrs. Frances Branson and sons, of Clio, were guests of Mr. and Mrs. Fox Brunson last Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. Richard Norman, of Huntsville, were the weekend guests of Mrs. Norman's parents, Mr. and Mrs. M.L. Lee, Little Lynn Norman, who spent last week with her grandparents, returned home with her parents.

Mr. Sam Grubbs, of Clayton, State she was named Miss Homecoming, one year and a member of "Who's Who in American Colleges" another year.

She has 12 years experience in her chosen field. For the past eight years she has taught the first grade at Oakland Terrace School. In addition to her ability at working with this all-important age group, Mrs. Molder was cited for her outstanding ability in training future teachers under the Florida State University teacher training program. She serves as a Sunday School teacher for the junior department of Northside Baptist Church, and has been an active member of such professional organizations as IBEA, CTA, FEA, and PTA. She is married to Prentiss D. Molder, band director at Rutledge High School. She and her husband are the parents of one son, Michael, age 10. The Molders live at 2425 Pretty Bayou Blvd.

The "Teacher of the Year" award goes annually to a teacher in Bay County who is deemed most deserving of the honor by a panel of educators.

It is always good news to Elba people when one of Elba's own gives outstanding service at home or elsewhere. It is especially gratifying to the former teachers of one who achieves honor in the profession of teaching. It is no surprise to your social editor that Mary Lou Plant has done just that. As a high school student, she was loyal, diligent, and ambitious. She needs to have the information about the hidden parts of the teeth and the soft tissues and bones of the mouth in order to detect and treat many oral conditions. Only x-rays can reveal this information.

Baptist Ladies To Donate Bibles To Hospital

A program from "Royal Service" on the subject of Christian witnessing was presented by Mrs. Lucile Bowdoin, Miss Eleanor Lee, Mrs. Mary Alice Mayes, and Mrs. Carolyn Boswell.

THROUGH THE KEYHOLE

BY MRS. ROBERT CANNON

WE WERE THRILLED with the news that Henriette Dorsey had been chosen "Miss Gulf Park" by her classmates at that college. Henriette has made outstanding record, serving as President of the Student Council this year.

We saw Mary Virginia and Virginia Lee briefly and learned that the entire matter was a surprise to her. She and Harry had gone to Gulf Park to attend a fashion show in which Henriette was to model. At the conclusion of the program, it was announced that "Miss Gulf Park" would be presented at that time. And the curtains opened to reveal Henriette!

We wonder how Mary Virginia stood it.

OUR THOUGHTS were certainly with Margaret Smith last week when she was rushed to the hospital for emergency surgery and we sincerely hope that by publication date she has reached an easier stage. Henry Smith's father and sister drove from Dothan to be with Henry and were a comfort we know.

WE HAD a good many other coming and going during the week. Lela Miles told us that she and Bobby were hosts to her sister Betty and her husband the Reverend James Flowers of Greenville over the weekend. Amorette and Harry Bullard entertained Mr. and Mrs. Roy Bullard and Mr. Shelby Jeffcoat of Opp, Maragene and Tom Beale of Mobile were seen at church; at another church Bobby Iman of the University Square was the attractive young lady; Lorene and Sam Sawyer headed for Huntsville despite the cold to spend two days with Lela Ann and Marlin Dyess; Gayle and

ON WEDNESDAY of last week, the proud parents of Elba's dancing students were invited to attend classes and observe the progress made since October. And we were quite pleased. It is wonderful to see little girls, their rounded shapes stuffed into black leotards, responding to the classical ballet steps, doing their bar exercises and learning to hold their hands gracefully. And it is equally stimulating to see a tap dance executed with precision and the sure confidence of knowledge. It is also interesting to see one's daughter preclude any thoughts of spring, we know that before too long we will be seeing green shoots and tiny buds. And plans are a-borning now for a wonderful service at the Methodist Church which will combine music and the Easter message. This dramatic presentation is a costume pageant and contains a most inspiring series of events. As we said, the plans are just now being made, but already those concerned are determined to have more to tell you later along this line. And anyone having any Roman costumes on hand is asked to call me.

WE ARE INDEBTED to Gnette Kendrick for pointing out to us that Thomas Edison didn't invent the telephone as we so illy stated last week. We are embarrassed. After all, everyone knows that invention was invented by Don Ameche.

THE CIRCUS is coming to Montgomery on February 8, 9, 10 and 11. Have succumbed to the lure of the Big Top and purchased tickets. Having never seen a "big" circus we are more thrilled than the little girl who is our excuse for coming. See you excuse for coming. See you there? SAW "Miss Gladys" Dorsey in the grocery last Friday and thought her new hat was most becoming. As always, she was impeccably groomed and just looked grand.

INVITATIONS in the mail are always interesting, even though one cannot attend the affair in question. Last week a beautifully lettered card announced the opening of Alvin Prestwood's new law offices. Alvin is Dot Bowden's brother and long time friend of ours. His wife Janie was a University friend and we wish them both the best in this new venture. Alvin, you know, was a member of Patterson's cabinet.

The second letter bore the picture of the Chi Omega House at the University which will have its official opening tea on February ten. We can only imagine how pretty this house will look for such a grand occasion.

Teenage Etiquette Is Simple

Teenagers who are concerned over the etiquette of eating out on their first dinner date will be heartily told to relax. There are a few simple rules are involved.

A gentleman holds the door for the girl and lets her precede him into the restaurant. They both go to the bar check stand where it is proper, if the girl desires, to check her coat. Or, she can keep it and drape it over her chair after she is seated.

Both wait at the entrance of the dining room for the hostess to guide them to the table. The hostess goes first, then the girl, and the man follows. Usually the hostess will indicate to the girl the chair that provides the most desirable view. The girl sits down slowly, giving her escort a chance to hold her chair.

The girl should carry a small purse that rests easily in her lap because she never places her purse on the table. The young man gives both orders to the waitress. A well-trained waitress seldom, if ever, goes for the girl a direct question.

If an accident like dropping a fork occurs, it's not the end of the world. It can happen to anyone. The gentleman should call the waitress to pick up the fork and replace it. In any case, the situation should be handled without fuss or undue embarrassment and quickly dropped from the conversation.

When the meal is finished, place the napkins, everlastingly folded plate. Most boys prefer that girls confine their face fixing to the powder room.

A gentleman assists his date with her chair as they leave. He also takes care of the check, leaving a tip for the waitress equal to about 15 per cent of the bill.

WANT TO FORGET...

THE COMMON COLD?

who doesn't feel chilly weather, under lying, lower fresh foods to eat, may contribute to lower resistance to infection. Not only colds, which can become serious if not cared for, but other winter diseases drop up. It is comforting to know your doctor's prescription can help cut short an illness.

THE CHURCH FOR ALL... ALL FOR THE CHURCH

The Church is the greatest factor in the life of the community. It is a source of spiritual values. Without a strong Church, neither democracy nor civilization can survive. There are four sound reasons why every person should attend services regularly and support the Church. They are: (1) For his own sake. (2) For his children's sake. (3) For the sake of his community and nation. (4) For the sake of the Church itself, which needs his moral and material support. Plan to go to church regularly and read your Bible daily.

1747 Coffee Countians Receive Assistance In Fiscal Year

The figures in the Pensioners and Security Department's Annual Report (October 1, 1961-September 30, 1962) show that 1747 cases in Coffee County were receiving public assistance at the end of the fiscal year. These persons are receiving under the following categories: 1224 (or 70%) are Old Age Pensioners, 197 are Totally and Permanently Disabled, 38 are blind, 19 are minor children in foster care, 4 received Medical Assistance to the aged, 1 received Temporary Aid, 263 families received Aid to Dependent Children Assistance. Alabama has no general relief program as do some other states. (Alabama ranks third from the bottom in per capita income.) Therefore, the Pensioners and Security Department does not give assistance to able-bodied unemployed persons. The average age of Old Age Pensioners is over 75, none are under 65 and some are 90 and above. About a third of them receive Social Security payments too low to meet their needs, receiving on the average about $38 in Social Security and about the same amount from the Pensioners and Security Department. The pensioners are not physically able to work in the main. The maximum amount that an Old Age Pensioner can receive is $75. If he has other income, it is less. Today's high standard of living makes it harder for these people to manage on what they receive. Many are ill and medical expenses are high also.

The next largest number of recipients are the 263 families in which are 750 dependent children under 18. In none of these homes are there two able-bodied parents. The children have lost a parent's support through death, disability, imprisonment, or desertion. The mother, if able-bodied, is expected to work if a job can be found and plans made for the care of her children while at work. (A disabled father is always expected to work so, insofar as he is able.) Older boys and girls are expected to find suitable jobs after school, on Saturdays, and during vacations. These people must try to help themselves before they can qualify for aid. Aid to Dependent Children families get help on the average of three years, often for a shorter time. The average grant per child per month is only $11.07. Every effort is made to rehabilitate these families.

The remainder on welfare rolls are blind, permanently and totally disabled, children in foster homes and persons receiving medical care only.

In determining eligibility of applicants and recipients, every fact is verified—disability by a physician, blindness by an eye specialist or an optometrist, bank balances and rent charges by bankers and landlords. Desertion is verified by full investigation including reports of reliable citizens. Support must be sought by court action if necessary. The staff depends on references to be sure the facts presented are accurate especially in regard to residence, desertion, employment and wages of mothers, teenage children and partially handicapped fathers, etc. In no instance is eligibility established without the best proof available. Every citizen has a responsibility to report factually information to the agency when requested or when it comes to their attention. Each applicant and recipient is informed of the severe penalty that will be invoked for withholding information or misrepresenting facts.

The money paid through the Department helps Coffee County's economy. The program relieves the individuals in need and benefits the whole community. One reason for its growth is the changing character of the population. Today there are more old people and children and fewer persons in the so-called working years to bear the burden of their support. Also more people are living longer due to advances in medical science.

Forest Industry In Coffee County Valued At $800,000.00

An industry in Coffee County that is worth as much as eight hundred thousand dollars is worth protection. That's what our forest in Coffee County did in the past year 1962 plus the employment of over five hundred people making their livelihood from the timber business in the county.

It's hard to imagine any one willfully destroying such a great resource but that is exactly what is happening in Coffee County. 270,000 acres of forest. The class of people who are apparently guilty of this destruction do not own anything. They have no ambition but to destroy that which others have preserved. Such a person or persons are known as "malicious woods burners" and is number one of the most wanted list of criminals.

For the year ending 1962 there were 50 wild fires in Coffee County which burned and destroyed 920 acres. Flaming damage to timber, watershed, wildlife and recreation, the damage runs into the thousands of dollars.

March Of Dimes County Directors Express Appreciation

As the 25th March of Dimes draws to a close, the County Campaign Directors Jerry Brown and Paul Morrow express to the residents of Coffee County their appreciation for the generosity that has been shown in making this year's drive a complete success. The gross receipts from the drive will exceed $1,200,000. Brown and Morrow stated that even though no goals were set at the beginning of the drive, this exceeded their expectations. They contributed the success of the drive to the outstanding work of the wonderful people who helped with it in various capacities. The Marching Mothers, who were headed by Mrs. Jack Brunson as Chairman, collected $436.08. This was an amazing success and all credit due should go to Mrs. Brunson and her 50 faithful Marching Mothers of Elba.

Wayland Sharpless, Special Events Chairman, staged a county wide "Team Basketball Tournament" which made $175.00 for the March of Dimes. Mr. Sharpless expresses his thanks to the "B" Team Coaches of the five county high schools which participated.

Johnson Chairman Of Elba Heart Fund Drive February 18-24

Irvin Johnson is serving as chairman of the Elba Heart Fund Drive, which takes place February 18th through 24th.

The Heart Fund volunteers raise the money each February to support the programs of the American Heart Association and its affiliates. This program and its ultimate success depends on the dollars so generously given by a concerned public.

Johnson is one of more than two million Americans from all walks of life who are making this winter against the nation's Number One health problem—the complex of cardiovascular diseases. These volunteers, "the backbone" of the voluntary system and the nervous energy of the Heart Association, assume the responsibility each year of raising the Heart Fund dollars which are the Heart Association's only source of income to combat heart disease.

Target of this year's Heart Fund Drive is to help the record-breaking total of more than $27 million contributed last year, which represented a gain over the year before.

In the 15 years since the American Heart Association became a national voluntary health agency, it has grown into a unique partnership of physicians, scientists and public-spirited volunteers dedicated to the conquest not of a single disease but a complex of many, any one of which might be considered a worthy health cause.

This fight is being waged with all weapons available to us—basic and applied research aimed at uncovering the causes of the diseases, education of both the practicing physician and the public, and service to help the heart patient in the community.

J. C. Lewis is chairman of the Road Block committee. Robert S. Stephens is chairman of the Business Solicitation.

The Road Block set-up has been planned for Saturday, February 23. A meeting of all Group Captains and Chairmen will meet Sunday afternoon, February 24th at the Legion Hut at 2 o'clock.

The newly appointed Philco dealer is now open for business in their new location and in an advertisement this week invites everyone to visit them.

They plan a formal opening which will be announced soon.
